

DIRECT STRATEGIES: WRITING

STRATEGY GROUP: Cognitive

STRATEGY SET: Practicing

STRATEGY: Formally practicing with sounds and writing systems
--

This strategy also centers on learning new writing systems necessary for using the target language. Of course, language learners do not always have to learn a new writing system, but many languages have alphabets, syllabaries, or ideographic systems that differ from the learners' own writing system. With a language such as Russian, Arabic, or Hebrew, the alphabet might be different from the learners' own.